RHEUMATIC COMPOUND.

No Melleine for the cure of Rheumatism has ever attained to such a high degree of favor and universility as Johnson's Rheumatic Compound. Although but one year before the public, this medicine has justly gained an unbounded popularity. When the originator first introduced it he was convinced to its efficacy, but he little thought it was destined to prove such an inestimable blessing to the affilieted; but true merit can not be suppressed. The attestation of huntreds who have been cured by it must prove he truth of the assertion that it is therefore the condition of the filling has a good deal to do with the health of the body. The Bible says to the true Chris-tian, "Rejoice always;" and John Adams, who lived to near ninety, said this was the sum of his religion. It is not all, nor the largest part of true religion; but it is an important element in the character of a true Christian. It is as valuable as it is important. In the language of merchandise, cheerfulness language of merchandise, cheerfulness pags. It pays by largely strengthening and aiding the vital and recuperative powers of body and mind. We often see persons who are infirm, invalid or dyspeptic who live beyond those who are in full health, and do much work. Men say such a man would have died or failed long ago but for the apparts of his character. But for the energy of his character. But what is energy? When we analyze it, like the chemist, we find that much of it arises from cheerfulness of disposition, bright and clear views of the fu-tion, fright and clear views of the acture. This cheerfulness won't prevent him from having the yellow fever if he is in the way of it, but it will keep him from being unnerved and predisposed toward it. Therefore we should be as cheerful as possible under all calamities.

But all these elements are united or fixed principles, and within that vast outside world, whose wonderful mechanism astonishes him at every look he takes, he beholds world within world,

3. We have read something, and talk-al with able physicians about the choled with able physicians about the chol-era, and in the words of a distinguished doctor, "cholera yields as readily to rem-edies when applied to the first symptoms which should suggest much thought to both Christian and infidel. An hundred years ago chemistry was little known. It is not half known now. There were certain bodies supposed to be simple bodies, but after a while the chemist analyzed them, and he was astonished to find they were not simple, but compound. He found there were two elements in them. He called one a base and the other an acid. Here, he thought, was the end. But within a few years he finds the base is a compound. And now he is not sure that anything is a simple, pure substance.

But all these elements are united or fixed principles, and within that vast outside world, whose wonderful mechanism astonishes him at every look he takes, he beholds world within world, till, analyzing element after element and atom after atom, he finds infinite atoms, still capable of infinite division. What is the result? That God has put this world together as he pleases, and he will take it to pieces as he pleases, God is infinite, therefore the things we analyze, though matter, are capable of infinite division. Hence it is that the human body is full of parasites. While they keep their places, what then? There is a disturbances.

What then? There is a disturbances.

What has been cautious and prudent in his diet. He used nothing intoxicating. But after some hours of hard labor and very profuse perspiration, he had lain down to take his customary nap, right against an open window through which a very refeash. CAUSE AND SYMPTOMS. there is no harm in them. But sometimes they don't keep their places. What then? There is a disturbances, disease, and perhaps this disease will go round the world. Would men avoid it if they knew the cause? Ask whether they avoid the diseases? Ask whether they avoid the diseases they do know the cause of.

But let us state some facts it may be useful to know:

2. The mind governs the body, and therefore the condition of the mind has a good deal to do with the health of the body. The Bible says to the true Christian, "Rejoice always;" and John Adams, who lived to near ninety, said whatever way it commences it is sure to this way the sum of his religion. It is whatever way it commerces it is sure to hold on. In a very few hours the patient may sink into the collapse. The hands and feet become cold and purplish, the countenance at first nervous and anxious, becomes gloomy and pathetic, although a mental restlessness and raging thirst torment the sufferer, while the powers of life are ebbing. The intellect remains clear, but all the social and moral feelings seem wonderfully to collapse with the physical powers. The patient knows he is to die, but cares not a snap about it. In some cases, though rarely, the diarrhea continues a day or two, and the foolish person keeps about, then suddenly sinks, sends for the physician, and before he arrives, "dies as the fool ieth."

COURSE OF TREATMENT. For Stopping the Incipient Diarrhea.

The mixture which I used in 1848 with great success, and again in 1856, has during the epidemic been used by thousands, and although the attacks have been more sudden and violent, it has fully established its reputation for efficiency and perfect safety. It con-sists of equal parts, by measure, one of doctor, "cnoiera yietas as readily to remcdies when applied to the first symptoms laudanum and spirits of camphor, two (immediately) as any disease whatever. Here comes in the first and great maxim of prudence—applyyour remedies to the first symptoms. What are your remedies to return, care should always be taken to rective? delies?

4. Here, most fortunately, there is very little doubt. The best physicians, the greatest experience and common sense all agree. Meet the first symptoms just as they are by well known means. What are they?

Let us begin nearly two hundred years ago. Sydenham, one of the greatest physicians of England, says that in 1876 the cholera morbus was epidemic in England; that it was attended with convulsions, which seized both bowels and the muscles of arms and legs. He says the disease did not reduce the medicine every four hours in diminishing doses; twenty-five, wenty, fifteen, ten, nine, when careful diet is all that will be needed. In case the first dose not stay the diarrhea, continue to give in increasing doses—thirty-five, forty-five, sixty—at every movement of the bowels. Large diarrhea hasts. When that is checked then is the time for caution. I have never seen a case of diarrhea taken in season which was not thus controlled, but some cases of advanced diarrhea they are the first dose not stay the diarrhea, continue to give in increasing doses—thirty-five, forty-five, sixty—at every movement of the bowels. Large diarrhea hasts. When that is checked then is the time for caution. I have never seen a case of diarrhea taken in season which was not thus controlled, but some cases of advanced diarrhea, continue to give in increasing doses.

the of peppermint about as efficient as spirits of camphor. He had laudanum, brandy, spirits of camphor, and purging, perhaps also cramps and laudanum, brandy, spirits of camphor and purging, perhaps also cramps and laudanum, brandy, spirits of camphor, and sesence of peppermint. With these he was quite successful in a large slap load of passengers. The philosophy of the treatment will be seen at once. The cholera morbus when severe and still more the Asitaic cholera, is spasmodic, and it is the violence of the spasms which indicates the danger of the disease. The antidotes to this are opium and camphor. The other ingredients are put in to quiet the stomach or restain and warm up the bowels. The whole treatment is to meet the symptoms in a little water, and to be increased actorised the treatment is to meet the symptoms with should be given immediately. In this Sydenham and Hamlin and the best physicians agree. We have written this, not because we think some persons, who have never netural-ed, to the subject, may possibly gain some information useful to themselves or neighbors. The best and most sensible article we have scene on this subject is that of Dr. Hamlin's, and those who can get it had better keep a copy for reference.

The Typhoid Fever.—A typhoid state for a few days will follow all severe cases. There is nothing alarming in this. It has very rarely proved fatal. Patience and careful nursing will bring rationes and careful nursing winding it all right. The greatest danger is from drinking too freely. When the patient seemed to be sinking, a little brandy and water or arrowroot and brandy have revived him. In this terrible visitation of the cholera, we have considered ourselves perfectly armed and equipped with a hand-bag containing mixture No. 1, (for vomiting, &c.,) a few pounds of pounded mustard, a bottle of pounds of pounded musicily, a bottle of brandy, a paper of cammonile flowers and a paper of gum Arabic. I lay no claim to originality in commending this course of treatment. I have adopted it from suggestions of able and experienced physicians. WHEELING, Apri 25th, 1865. Messis McCare, Kraft & Co., Gentlemen:
Having used Kraft & Diarrhea Compound, for Camp Diarrhea, with which I have been deeply afflicted for almost one month, all other remedies tried having failed, and finding it not only a present relief but a permanent cure, I take pleasure in recommending it to the favorable notice of all who may be allke afflicted.

Pirrsburg, July 5, 1865. PITTSBURG, July 5, 1865.

Messrs, McCare, Kraff & Co., Gentlemen: Allow me to add my testimony to that of others, in regard to your celebrated "Diarrhea Compound." I have been for a long time subject to the disease for which it is recommended. I have tried various remedles; but never found one that so completely emdicates the disease as your medicine. A short time ago I was suffering terribly with Diarrhea I procured a bottle of "Kraft's Diarrhea Compound." I experienced lumidiate relief from one dose, and after a third dose felt as well as ever. I regard it as an invaluable medicine, and would not be without it. Yours truly,
